

A lot of work being done at Esri to develop truly 3D data structures for 3D editing, 3D symbology, measuring distances and angles, and better visualization, particularly for petroleum, mining. Not well known by the academic geology/geophysics community. We hope to change that.